

THEATER ORGAN WELL DEDICATED

MME. MAUD MOORE CLEMENT'S PLAYING QUICKLY PROVES HER UNUSUAL TALENT

PROGRAM SATISFIES

MANAGER WILLIAM A. HOWE'S EFFORTS ARE APPRECIATED BY LARGE AUDIENCE

Jupiter Sereator, "the clearer-up of storms," struggled last evening with Jupiter Pluvius, "the rain-giver," to give Glendale's many music-lovers favorable weather conditions for attending the formal dedication of the majestic Estey organ at Glendale Theatre.

Some timid, doubting spirits there were who, hoping the best and fearing the worst, chose absolute safety from a drenching and missed the treat of their lives by stopping at home by their cozy firesides.

But these were in the minority; many others pinned their faith to Jupiter Sereator—nor was their faith misplaced, for he really did clear up the skies for the evening—donned rubbers and raincoats and sallied forth to hear the great organ and the great artist, Madame Maud Moore Clement. There were enough of these brave, weather-proof music-lovers to fill the large theatre.

The numbers preceding the musical part of the program were all right—but everyone came to hear the organ and Mme. Clement, and when the orchestra overture, the "Vaudeville Movies," the Pathe Review and the pre-release comedy, "Burglars Bold," were finished, everyone sat back in his chair and waited in hushed expectancy.

Manager Howe Tells Story

Manager Howe, in presenting Madame Clement, told the story of the beginning of musical accompaniments to pictures. About sixteen years ago, in the old Globe theatre, in St. Louis, the first 1000-foot reel film was run off. The picture was "The Great Train Robbery" and it was produced by Edison. The piano which had been used when the hall had been a theatre a short time before, was still there. It occurred to the manager to have some one play it while the picture was shown, simply in order to drown the noise of the projection machine in use in those early days of the picture show.

Accordingly, he called in a little girl in the neighborhood who was known for her skill on the piano.

She discovered her natural gift and aptitude for this sort of playing and made it her profession. This little girl was Mme. Maud Moore Clement; now grown to womanhood, she has become a great artist, one of the very best artists in her line. She has played in the great theatres of New York, Boston, Chicago and other eastern cities. She opened the Lorch.

DATE IS CHOSEN

GOVERNOR STEPHENS TO TALK FOR MAJOR LINEBERGER
HERE FEBRUARY 11

Galen H. Welch, chairman of the ninth congressional district committee, who attended the dinner held in Glendale in honor of Major Walter F. Lineberger on Monday night, states that Governor William D. Stephens will address a mass meeting in this city on Friday, February 11, in behalf of Major Lineberger's candidacy for congress.

Governor Stephens is scheduled to make five speeches in the ninth district and Glendale has been chosen as the place for one of them.

Governor Lowden of Illinois will also campaign on behalf of Major Lineberger and, it is probable, he will speak in Glendale, says Chairman Welch.

BUSINESS GROWS

COMPARATIVE FIGURES GIVEN TO SHOW GROWTH OF CITY WATER DEPARTMENT

In 1916, the city of Glendale sold to consumers 358,725,000 gallons of water, receiving therefor $42,391.29; and 1,170,458 kilowatts of electricity for which it received $59,080.76.

In 1920 the figures were 806,390,250 gallons of water for $88,114.84; 4,301,988 kilowatts of "juice" for $146,526.09.

The city has grown to be a pretty large business institution, these figures show.

TWO MILLIONS FIRE LOSS IN WORCESTER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 19.—Destruction of the city was threatened today by one of the most disastrous fires in New England's history. Fire Chief Avery estimated at noon today the loss would total more than $2,000,000.

Nearly thirty fires broke out within a mile of the city hall. Flames had enveloped the whole business district.

City and state police were investigating reports that several of the fires were of incendiary origin.

Fire apparatus was brought from Boston, when the flames got beyond the control of the local fighters.

Practically all buildings between Barton Place and Austin street on both sides of Main street were burned. Firemen fought the blaze with the temperature hovering around zero.

Man after man fell from exhaustion under the weight of his ice-encrusted garments.

LORD MAYOR OF CORK MUST GO BACK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The labor department today mailed a notice to attorneys for Donal O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, requiring O'Callaghan to surrender himself to the immigration inspector at Norfolk. O'Callaghan arrived at Newport News several weeks ago as a stowaway.

This is the first step in carrying out Secretary of Labor Wilson's ruling that O'Callaghan is a sailor and may remain in this country only long enough to reship.

5 YEARS---AND NOW

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES ON DAMAGING RAINSTORM
HERE ARE RECALLED

On Sunday and Monday, January 16 and 17, 1916, the rainfall was 5.80 inches, according to H. E. Bartlett's record, bringing the total to that date up to 14.22 inches.

On Sunday and Monday, January 16 and 17, 1921, the rainfall was 2.55 inches, according to H. E. Bartlett's record, bringing the total to that date to 5.46 inches.

And in each case it was the heaviest storm of the season, to date.

In 1916 the season's total was a little more than 26 inches, but the next three seasons the precipitation was very light, somewhere between 10 and 12 inches.

Last season was some better, however, with a fall of over 15 inches, which, it is hoped, may be reached and passed before the rainy season ends this year.

Does Damage Five Years Ago

In the storm of five years ago considerable damage was done. Floods from Sycamore canyon poured down through the east part of the city, washing out streets and endangering houses. Many business men on Brand boulevard, remembering the experiences of two years before, when a number of stores were flooded by the rush of waters down the city's main thoroughfare after a break in the banks of the Wash at Howard street, were up at 4 a. m. piling bags of sand around the store fronts.

FOUR BIRTHDAYS

UNUSUAL SURPRISE IS GIVEN SATURDAY AT HOME OF
MRS. LOUISE STOCKER

An unusual birthday surprise was arranged by Mrs. Louise Stocker last Saturday evening in honor of four birthdays in the family, at her home, 346 West Doran street.

Her son-in-law, J. T. Stewart, had a birthday on January 3; that of his little daughter, Betty Jane, came on Jan. 11; Mrs. Stocker's daughter, Mrs. Stewart, celebrated the anniversary of her natal day on Jan. 14, and her sister, Maurine, also has a birthday in January, hers occurring on January 22.

In honor of the quartette of January birthdays Mrs. Stocker invited a company of friends to celebrate. Games and dancing were the merry pastimes of the evening which were indulged in after the guests of honor had recovered from their surprise.

A bountiful three-course supper was served by the hostess, at the close of the evening's diversions.

Those in Attendance

Guests of the occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames T. W. Lakey, G. A. McCormick, J. T. Stewart, M. M. Stewart of Pasadena, Rand of Los Angeles, C. E. Neale; Mesdames E. O'Brien, Monica Niblack, Katherine Stadler, Blanche Prendeville, Hunt, Goff, Wilbur Bettis, L. A. Stocker, M. Rickerson, B. Dodge, Los Angeles; Misses Norma Niblack, Betty Jane Stewart, Maurine J. Bettis, Marion and Lola Stewart, Pasadena; Leona and Evelyn Hunt, Eva Rand, Lucy Raymon, Leona Stag, Los Angeles; Messrs. Walter Stolder and R. W. Bettis.

ENTERTAINED

DR. AND MRS. T. C. YOUNG OF NORTH KENWOOD STREET HOSTS TUESDAY NIGHT

Members of the Los Angeles Osteopathic-Surgical society with their wives were delightfully entertained Tuesday night by Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young at their beautiful home on North Kenwood street. The membership of this society is limited to sixteen of the best osteopathic surgeons in Los Angeles and vicinity and meetings are held twice a month.

Responding to the invitation of Dr. and Mrs. Young were Drs. E. T. Abbott, Kenneth Baber, William Bartosch, W. C. Brigham, T. D. Emery, W. V. Goodfellow, T. J. Ruddy, Norman Stewart, L. T. White, C. H. Phinney, all of Los Angeles and Dr. O. A. Dieterich of Glendale. All of the doctors were accompanied by their wives.

Regular Session Is Held
The regular meeting of the society was held in the ballroom in the basement of the Young home while the ladies were entertained at cards upstairs.

Following the reading of a paper on "The Indications for Surgical Interference in Cholelithiasis" and a discussion of the topic, the meeting adjourned and the men were joined by the ladies and all enjoyed cards and dancing. Dr. Goodfellow was winner of the first prize at cards, Dr. Ruddy second, while Mrs. Dieterich received the consolation.

Mrs. Young assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. Baird, and Miss Margaret Cross, served refreshments before the guests departed at 1 o'clock.

HOLD ELECTION

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE DECIDING UPON OFFICERS FOR ENSUING TERM

Election of officers for the student body of the Glendale high school is being held today, following a spirited campaign. A number of the officers have several candidates and, for the past few weeks, there has been considerable "electioneering" going on among the students.

The system of balloting being used at the school is the same as that in state and national campaigns and by this the students are instructed in the use of election materials and machinery of the ballot.

The announcement of the winning candidates will be made as soon as the vote is counted and the results passed upon.

NEW ARRIVAL

BABY SON ARRIVES ON SUNDAY FOR MR. AND MRS. KEELEY, 517 SOUTH LOUISE

A son was born on Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Keeley, 517 South Louise street. The little chap has been named Joseph Clyde Keeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeley are from Chicago, and have resided in Glendale since last May. Mr. Keeley was formerly a United States deputy revenue collector in Chicago. At present he is manager of the Western Wholesale Paint company. Both Mrs. Keeley and the baby are doing nicely.

BUILDING LAWS TO BE CHANGED

COMPLETED AND READY TO BE ACTED UPON

MANY SUGGESTIONS

VARIED INTERESTS TAKE BIG PART IN PREPARATION OF PROPOSED MEASURE

Tentative draft of the revised building ordinance for the city of Glendale is now being gone over by members of the board of city trustees and Hartley Shaw, city attorney, and it is expected to come up for action shortly.

The tentative draft has been gone over by T. W. Watson, city manager, and in referring the proposed measure to the board, he stated:

"This ordinance has been under consideration for several months; has had the special attention of the superintendent of buildings, who has discussed the provisions thereof with a number of those engaged in building in Glendale; circular letters calling attention to the revision of this ordinance have been addressed to or placed in the hands of Glendale builders and contractors.

Suggestions Are Submitted

"As a result thereof the general discussion of the ordinance by those engaged in building has been obtained and many valuable suggestions as

FLOOD CONTROL

LEGISLATURE TO BE ASKED FOR $3,000,000; PACOIMA DAM CONSTRUCTION

County Supervisor McClellan is in Sacramento this week to ask for an appropriation of $3,000,000 by the legislature for Los Angeles county flood control work. Glendale is not directly interested in this matter, since she received the benefit of nearly $100,000 spent in such work last year, the Verdugo Wash having been hemmed in by powerful walls of wire and brush from Verdugo Woodlands clear to the Los Angeles river, and similar work put in along Sycamore canyon. But there are many streams traversing other cities as well as country districts that need the same kind of treatment.

Most of the money, should it be appropriated, would doubtless be used in the construction of dams to impound flood waters. According to Mr. McClellan, $800,000 of the sum would be applied toward the construction of the Pacoima canyon dam, the balance of the cost, estimated at $1,500,000, to be borne by the districts to benefit by the irrigation waters.

Expects to Get Aid

As the upper Sacramento valley was granted $3,000,000 by the last legislature, Mr. McClellan thinks there will be little difficulty in securing from the present assembly a like sum.

Recent developments point to rough sledding for the Pacoima dam project. The city of San Fernando recently notified the board of supervisors that it had filled on ten inches of water rights in Pacoima canyon, above the proposed dam site, and asked that provision be made for the passage through the dam of the San Fernando pipe line.

As the city of Los Angeles claims the water rights to the canyon, the matter has been referred to the city council.

RAINFALL RECORD

TOTAL OF 6.12 THUS FAR FOR SEASON; FIGURE FOR STORM IS 3.21

The rainfall is crowding close on last season's with a total for this storm, beginning Sunday night, of 3.21 inches, making 6.12 for the season as compared to 6.99 last season at this date. The fall since yesterday noon was .61 of an inch. The total for last season, according to H. E. Bartlett's report, was 16.04 inches, nearly 10 inches of which came after this date. So we may still hope for many more inches of precipitation this year.

OLIVE DAY IS FEBRUARY 21

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—Governor Stephens has proclaimed February 21 as "California olive day" and he urges the use of the product on that day, as well as others.

SENATE DEADLOCK IS REPORTED BROKEN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 19.—The revenue and taxation bills will pass in the senate today after a night's deadlock, it seemed certain following the return of Senator Irwin of Hanford. Irwin will vote for the bill, he announced as he entered the chambers.

At the last moment Senators McDonald and Godsil of San Francisco announced they had changed their vote from no to aye. This will give the bill a vote of 29 to 9.

After being locked in chambers all night, with no sleep and but little to eat, the senate was deadlocked early this morning on the proposal of the state administration to solve the state's financial problems with an increased corporation tax.

But later in the day the return of Irwin and the change of votes were announced and, it is presumed, the measure will pass.

PASSENGERS FRIGHTENED BY COLLISION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Scores of passengers on train No. 19 of the Salt Lake line, due in Los Angeles at 9:15 o'clock this morning, were shaken up and many were hurled to the floors of cars and bruised when the train, known as the Continental limited, crashed into a landslide which had buried the tracks, according to word received here.

The accident occurred at a point about ten miles west of Stine, Nevada. This is about 450 miles from Los Angeles. As a result, all trans-continental Salt Lake trains were operating from ten to twelve hours late today.

WOMAN APPEARS CONFIDENT AS SELECTION OF JURY IS UNDER WAY

(Special to The Evening News)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—Her life or liberty at stake, Mrs. Louise L. Peete, 27, plump and pretty, was placed on trial today charged with the murder of Jacob Charles Denton, wealthy mining promoter, whose decomposed body was found buried in the basement of his palatial residence here on September 3 last.

Although rain fell at intervals and threatening clouds hung overhead, a great crowd of men and women stormed the doors of the Hall of Justice where the trial is being held and fought for admittance.

Police reserves were pressed into service to handle the throng.

Accused Woman Smiling

The trial began shortly before 10:30. Mrs. Peete was smiling and confident.

Attaches of the county jail said she had slept well last night and ate a breakfast this morning consisting of a steak, two eggs, potatoes, toast, coffee and apple sauce.

It is expected that the next two days will be consumed in selecting a jury. Testimony is not expected to begin before Friday.

PIONEER HERE

E. P. PARKER, RESIDENT OF GLENDALE IN 1889, TELLS SOME EARLY HISTORY

E. P. Parker of Los Angeles was a caller at The Evening News office yesterday and he related some very interesting incidents in the early history of Glendale. He lived here in 1889 when the building at the southeast corner of Glendale and Wilson avenues, still standing, sheltered a general store, the postoffice and a Chinese laundry, and what is now the Glendale sanitarium was an abandoned hotel and a lurking place for tramps.

The only school was held in the big brick building on San Fernando Road and Milford, erected for a bank and later used as a winery. Most of the ground occupied by the present city was then covered with trees and sagebrush. When they went to the postoffice, said Mr. Parker, they took their shotguns along, and generally knocked over several rabbits.

Founder of Hardware Store

Mr. Parker says he was the founder of the Glendale Hardware store, erecting the brick building in which it was first located, about a block east of its present location and on the other side of Broadway. He also was the first man to sell ice in the city. He well remembers the Crow ranch, bounded by the present Harvard street, Glendale avenue, Windsor Road and Central avenue, with its big peach orchard on the east side of Brand boulevard and orange grove on the west side.

There were no electric cars nor jitneys in those days. Travel was mostly by wagon and the fruit and produce was hauled in over the San Fernando Road.

Mr. Parker says that every time he comes out to Glendale it is almost a strange city, so astonishing is its growth.

Installation ceremonies in which Mrs. Crawford will participate take place tonight at Santa Ana, Clara Barton Tent, Los Angeles, on Friday night and Jessie Benton Fremont Tent, Los Angeles, on Monday evening.

LITERARY SECTION

PLEASING AFTERNOON IS HAD BY CLUB MEMBERS AT MRS. WILLIAMS' HOME

A gala afternoon was enjoyed by the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club yesterday at the home of the curator, Mrs. A. M. Williams, 208 South Orange street.

A splendid paper on Egypt was read by Mrs. H. L. Baker, and Holding's "Invincible Minnie" was given in a masterly manner by Mrs. Harry Wilcox, whose clear and concise rendition won for her an enthusiastic reception.

Current events were read by Mrs.
Catherine Burnham and Mrs. E. W.
W. Hayward.

Much regret was expressed at the absence of Mrs. Harriette White whose attendance and interest in the literary section are so regular that its members feel lost without her.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the antiques and relics at the colonial tea to be given by the Tuesday Afternoon club on the afternoon of February 22, for club members.

There was a large attendance at this enjoyable session of the literary section; among those present was cups brought the pleasant affair to a close.

COMPLETED AND WILL BE DISCUSSED BY BOARD

to its provisions submitted. These have been considered and discussed at length and some of them have been incorporated in the ordinance.
The ordinance follows very closely the provisions of the Los Angeles city building code.

"Our present ordinance sets forth the boundaries of the several fire districts. We would suggest that this be embodied in a separate ordinance. In this connection we would refer to map prepared by city engineer for zoning committee which sets forth by red lines suggested boundaries of fire district No. 1. The plan suggested is to extend fire district No. 1 paralleling all business streets within commercial or business district and that the depth thereof be except in the built-up portions of these districts, from fifteen to twenty-five feet."

WOMAN ON TRIAL

MRS. PEETE IN COURT UPON CHARGE OF SLAYING AND THEY HIDING BODY

Confined in the county jail since her indictment and arrest on October 27, Mrs. Peete has maintained the same composure she exhibited during the weeks of investigation following the discovery of Denton's body buried in the basement of his home. The body was discovered late in September, nearly four months after Denton disappeared on June 2.

Mrs. Peete, cultured and refined, mother of pretty four-year-old Betty Peete, and tenant in the Denton home at the time the mining man dropped from sight, immediately became the central figure in the investigation made by private detectives and police. She was at that time living in Denver and voluntarily returned here to aid the authorities.

For nearly four weeks she was questioned by District Attorney Woolwine and his assistants, while being held under surveillance in the La Crescenta hotel. The county grand jury finally voted an indictment charging her with first degree murder.

While the defense has not yet revealed the extent of its case, it is expected to center about the claim that Mrs. Peete is the "victim of circumstances" and that she is innocent.

Public Defender in Charge

Mrs. Peete will be defended by Public Defender Walton J. Wood, recently elected a judge of the superior court. District Attorney Woolwine will direct the prosecution in person, with Chief Deputy Doran assisting.

Among the unusual ramifications of the case was the circumstance of the accused woman having occupied the Denton house for several months after Denton "disappeared." During that time, according to the statements of witnesses before the grand jury, Mrs. Peete sublet the home; "loaned" Denton's automobile to a friend; disposed of a considerable quantity of Denton's clothing; asked a friend to pawn a diamond ring (later identified as having belonged to Denton); bought dresses at a local store in the name of Mrs. J. C.
Denton, deceased wife of the dead man; and cashed several checks on which the name of Denton had been forged. These and other circumstantial evidence will be the backbone of the prosecution's case, it is said.

Say Financial Gain Motive

According to the district attorney's office the alleged murder was committed for financial gain. It is held that Denton was shot through the neck in the kitchen of his home early on the morning of June 2, just before he was to have left for a visit to the east.

The prosecution will contend that after killing Denton, Mrs. Peete dragged his body to the basement and covered it up with several feet of earth which was taken there from the flower beds in the rear of the home. Several witnesses who appeared before the grand jury testified that large quantities of lime and cleaning preparations were delivered to the house and paid for by Mrs.
Peete, on June 2, and subsequent days. Discovery of a large blood clot under the linoleum in the kitchen gave credence to the theory that Denton was killed there.

Body Found by Detectives

Discovery of the badly decomposed body was made after private detectives were employed by Francis Denton, sixteen, his daughter, who was living in Phoenix, Ariz., with her mother, divorced wife of the mining man.

Mrs. Peete's husband, a semi-invalid and former automobile salesman, was expected to attend the trial. He came here from Denver with his wife, though he had shortly before entered suit for divorce.

DOMINICO GAYS IS SENTENCED FOR SLAYING OF BURBANK MARSHAL, R. NORMAN

Dominico Gays, found guilty of the murder of Robert Norman, city marshal of Burbank, was yesterday sentenced by Superior Judge Willis to life imprisonment in San Quentin prison.

While Judge Willis was pronouncing the sentence, Gays made an attempt to show indifference and gazed stolidly about the crowded courtroom. He was unable, however, to prevent the color from leaving his face, his death-like pallor being particularly noticeable.

Arguments for a new trial were made before Judge Willis and denied.
After sentence was pronounced, the attorney for the defense served notice that an appeal to a higher court would be taken.

Convicted in Two-Day Trial

After a trial of two days, Gays was convicted by a jury. Details of the shooting at Burbank, in which three bandits are alleged to have participated, were related. The bandits fought with Marshal Norman and Constable Purrier. In his defense, Gays said he fired at the officers thinking them to be hold-up men.

The prosecution, however, showed the three bandits were driving about Burbank late at night without lights on their car. Evidence was also given to the effect that the officers had intercepted the men in the act of robbing a garage.

Raphael Dalo, a second member of the gang, alleged to be implicated in the slaying, is scheduled to go to trial before Judge Willis on February 10.

Nick Torrillo, the third member, is said by the police to be in hiding in Mexico.

DEMONSTRATES WITH PUPILS

The first of a series of lectures and demonstrations by Dr. John T.
Miller, psychologist, under the auspices of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations, was given last night in the auditorium of the high school. Dr. Miller demonstrated development of personal efficiency with some of the high school students. The meeting was

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 19.—An inch and a half may be the limit on heels in Utah. A bill prohibiting high heels is scheduled to be presented to the legislature today, as the result of action taken by women's clubs.

Nine hundred and ninety-seven cutting tools alone are required in manufacturing a modern rifle.

The Snowy Sheen of Lustrous Linen

That snowy sheen of lustrous linen which you so much desire and which is so gratifying to hostesses and so charming to guests is a product of our modern laundry service. It is the result of painstaking care in the washing and ironing of all you send us.

It's quite simple, too. Merely a matter of an abundance of soft mountain water of exactly the right temperature, mild, white soap, floods of sweet clean water for rinsing, and ironing which smooths and glosses without friction.

The result is made possible by our years of practice, and the finely perfected equipment you will find in our big, sunlit laundry.

DECLARED CHAMPION EGG

PETALUMA, Cal., Jan. 19.—An egg weighing seven and a half ounces laid by a pullet six months old, said by local egg experts—"Petaluma called world's egg basket"—to be the champion egg of its kind is on display in the local chamber of commerce. "Baby Bennecke" is the name of the egg's mother, who is owned by A. H. Bennecke of this city. Bennecke declares that this is one bird "that earns her celery."

The next important thing to decide is whether mince pie is a beverage within the meaning of the Volstead law.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Attorney General Palmer today requested the senate judiciary committee to investigate charges made against him in the department of justice of illegal methods in connection with enforcement of war laws.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—The navy seaplane NC-5, which was disabled and drifted off the coast of Nicaragua, was sunk by gun fire at sea, according to a radio message to the twelfth naval district headquarters today.

Sinking was intentional. It is believed the plane had become a menace to navigation and was sunk to prevent mishaps.

WATER MAIN BURSTS, CAUSING BIG LOSS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

OAKLAND, Jan. 19.—Heavy damage was caused here today by the bursting of a high pressure water main in Broadway in the heart of the city. A geyser of water shot about twenty-five feet into the air and played for nearly three hours.

Basements and lower floors of buildings were flooded. About a foot of water flowed in Broadway.

HARDING LEAVES TOMORROW ON VACATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President-elect Harding today turned from the trying task of conferring with "best minds" and began cleaning up his personal affairs preparatory to leaving tomorrow night for Florida, where he takes a five weeks' vacation.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

GENTLEMAN, SOLDIER, SCHOLAR

Brother may fight brother, but once the quarrel is done they will surely find it in their hearts to forgive and to honor each other as before. There is little rancor left now in America over the catastrophes of the Civil war, and southerners are gladly being joined by northerners in paying tribute to the memory and the military genius of Robert E. Lee, whose birthday is today.

Lee's fame has not been shadowed because he fought a losing fight. Historians generally place him in front rank as a master of military strategy. With the inadequate forces at his command, there is no denying he had the federal generals guessing more than a time or two.

In the states of Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia Lee's birthday is a legal holiday. It is a time for reminding the younger generation of the Lost Cause, of which they need not be ashamed.

It is a pleasant thing to remember that Lee did not have to wait until half a century after his death until recognition came to him. As the head of Washington and Lee university he added the reputation of a scholar to that of a soldier and a gentleman. His was a gallant figure.

ADVICE TO A KING

Of all the royalty parading around Europe with nothing in particular to do but attempt to pawn the crown jewels, Constantine of Greece was the luckiest. He is back in Athens, with none of him missing, and again he has the right to make everybody call him Majesty instead of just plain Mister.

Probably the return of his brother-in-law didn't stir a great deal of ambition in the heart of old Bill Hohenzollern, safely penned up in Holland. But that young buck, former King Manuel of Portugal, is likely to be more anxious to gamble on his chances.

Perhaps Manuel is deluded into thinking the Portuguese want him as badly as for centuries they wanted Don Sebastian. Now Sebastian went on a crusade in 1574 and was killed in northern Africa in 1578. A superstition arose that he had been enchanted, and in the hour of Portugal's greatest need he would return. It didn't work out that way, for in fact for 14 years its seat of government was in Brazil. Then in 1891 came the first of the attempts at revolution that finally shook off the monarchy.

The Portuguese, you see, learned finally to depend on themselves, not some enchanted king, for liberty. They have had a republic now for several years, unlike the Greeks, and being used to bossing themselves, it's not in the least likely they'll ever want to kowtow to little Manuel.

If the young man is looking for some sound advice, which isn't likely, he'll do his best to overcome the immigration restrictions and take the first boat for the U. S. A., where he'll learn something about a republic. Then, if he's good, and gets his crown melted up and turned into something useful, maybe the Portuguese folk will let him come back some day—not as king, but just plain Mister Manuel.

STORM IS MOVING EAST

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19.—The storm is moving east, according to the weather man. Fourteen inches of snow was reported from Big Bear valley. The ranchers are rejoicing over the rainfall.

U. S. DYES REPLACE GERMAN

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 19.—American dyes are rapidly replacing German dyes in American industry, according to C. W. Porter, assistant professor of chemistry in the University of California.

"The reconstruction of the German dye laboratories will probably be so slow that American industries will require dyes before Germany can supply them," said Porter. "New factories and laboratories are starting in New York and the dyes produced seem to be better than the dyes of Germany. The department of chemistry there has received samples of these dyes and there is every indication of them being as good as the German product."

DENIES FIGHT CANCELED

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Tex Rickard, promoter, today denied reports that the Dempsey-Carpentier match for the heavyweight championship has been canceled. The bout will be held July 2, probably either in Canada or England, he said.

MAN AND WOMAN SHOT

GALVESTON, Tex., Jan. 19.—Mrs. Edna Brown and M. S. Settle were found shot to death in an automobile standing in a street in a fashionable residence section here today. Francis Brown, husband of the woman, surrendered to authorities.

STORM SWEEPS NORTHWEST

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 19.—The northwest was swept by a severe sleet storm today. Traffic was crippled and telegraph service demoralized. The storm included northern Illinois, eastern Iowa and southern Wisconsin.

ing theatre in Riverside, where she has played for several years.

Mme. Clement, a charming girlish figure, appeared in the organ pit and spoke a few words of thanks in reply to the storm of applause that greeted her appearance. Then she slipped into her place at the console, and at her command the beautiful overture to "Fra Diavolo" swelled through the theatre.

Versatility Quickly Demonstrated

Perhaps nothing could have demonstrated so quickly to an audience Mme. Clement's wonderful versatility as the transition from the grand overture of Fra Diavolo to her tender, lyric, dreamy rendition of "Mother Machree," which she played as an encore.

Dvorak's Humoresque, everybody's favorite, she plays in an inimitable manner; her interpretation is as original as it is delightful.

Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," which she played as an interlude between the musical program and the feature picture, "The House of Whispers," showed to advantage a number of instruments in the organ—the drums, marimbaphone, cymbals and others.

Madame Clement's accompaniment to "The House of Whispers" intensified the picture; the mood of her music coincides so precisely with the action on the screen, and her accompaniment was marked by lightness and delicacy of effect.

Much might be said of her knowledge of harmony, her sense of tone color, her adaptability, her knowledge of transposition, whereby, when necessity requires the playing of a strain of some piece on the spur of the moment to fit a certain scene, she must transpose, for there is not time for modulation. Much might be said, also, of her ability to improvise, which is a very necessary qualification in a photoplay organist; and her ability to play from memory and her power of association of ideas as well as her faculty of quick thought—equally indispensable factors—might also be mentioned.

Has Gift of Imagination

While these qualities are all factors in the wonderful performance of Madame Clement, the leavening influence of God's great gift, Imagination, is her greatest secret; for what is genius but imagination raised to the nth power and touched with the divine fire from the altar of Prometheus?

Madame Clement's playing gives evidence that she has developed this God-given power by the study of the art products of all time: the great poetry, great paintings, great literature as well as the great music of the ages, all of them fruits of imagination or genius, the study of which calls for the exercise of imagination on the part of the observer or listener, and develops his latent power. Madame Clement, in other words, is a cultured woman; and the purpose of all culture is to sharpen the faculties, of which the imagination is one—perhaps the highest one. Prometheus is the fabled father of civilization. Madame Clement is a civilized, human sort of woman; that's why she's a great organist.

With proper encouragement and appreciation of the people of Glendale, this combination of a wonderful organ and a genius to play it should mean much to this city. It should sound the name of the city abroad, and bring many people here to share one of the most ennobling pleasures God has given to man, the pleasure of music.

Other Artists Contribute

Miss Orinda Hazen, soprano, and F. Brooks Cole, baritone, were other artists who contributed to last night's program. Miss Hazen sang Puccini's "In Quelle Trine Morbide" so beautifully that she was compelled to respond to an encore; she gave "Mighty Lak a Rose" in an intelligent, tender fashion that endeared her beautiful voice even more to her audience.

F. Brooks Cole's dramatic rendition of "Il Balen Del Suo Soriso" from Il Trovatore was also enthusiastically received and his beautiful ballad encore, "There's An Old-Fashioned House," was thoroughly enjoyed. An unexpected treat, not down on the program, was his singing of "My Rosary" from the echo chamber of the organ—an effect unique and of rare beauty.

Another surprise was the appearance of J. Warren Kerrigan, in person, right after showing of "The House of Whispers," in which he starred.

Mr. Kerrigan gave a little talk in which he demonstrated that the gift of character portrayal is not his only one—for he proved himself a speaker of no mean ability.

One of Greatest in West

Glendale Theatre organ is one of the greatest orchestral pipe organs in the west. It is a mammoth instrument, nearly twice as large as the one in Grauman's million dollar theatre in Los Angeles.

One day a few weeks ago some of us risked life and limb climbing up carpenter's ladders to the great organ chambers on either side of the proscenium arch in the theatre. Experts were putting the great creature together, and it seemed very complex, as indeed it is.

It is operated by electric action, very sensitive to the touch and exceptionally quick. Upon depressing the key lever, an electric contact is effected, and the current is sent over the wires, charging a magnet drawing away a disc of iron which is held in place at the opening of the pipe by the pressure of air.

There are thirty-five instruments in this "king of instruments," of seventy-three notes each, and by the numerous combinations that can be made on it, it equals an orchestra of more than one hundred pieces.

There are practically no borrows in this great organ, each instrument carrying its full complement of pipes. Its harp is said to be the finest organ harp in the world; this one instrument in the organ alone cost more than any Steinway piano.

The organ is a three-manual instrument. On the great organ are these instruments: The dulciana, gamba, clarabella, flute harmonica, gross flute, open diapason, tuba marimba, harp, snare drum, roll kettle drum, bass drum and crash cymbals.

On the swell organ are salicional, viol De Orchestra, Vox celeste, stop diapason, flute traverso, open diapason, Bourdon, oboe, cornopean, marimbaphone and orchestra bells.

Among those on the pedal organ are: Lieblich Gedéckt, Bourdon, open diapason, trombone.

Echo at Back of Theatre

The echo organ at the back of the theatre building has seven sets of seventy-three note pipes, including the vox humana. There are the muted viol, muted celeste, muted flute, unda Maris, French horn, clarinet, vox humana and cathedral chimes.

The pedal organ control is in the great organ chamber. There is a tremolo attachment for every instrument. Each organ chamber is protected by three thicknesses of deadening felt, so that it is sound-proof.

This marvelous organ is capable of an almost endless number and variety of combinations, so that, in the hands of Madame Clement, the great artist chosen to preside over it, one will never grow tired of it. It is not only a thing of beauty, but also, literally, a joy forever.

The Estey Organ company wrote Mr. Howe after its final testing (its construction took over ten months), that they had never turned out an organ superior to this one.

Among Invited Guests

Among the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Goodno at the dedication of the organ last evening were Dr. and Mrs. Case of Los Angeles, Mrs. Shepard of Philadelphia, and Miss Guernsey, also of Philadelphia.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Howe were Mrs. Geo. M. Pullman, Chicago; Mrs. D. M. Linnard, Pasadena; Mrs. Ruth C. Bartow, Pasadena; J. Warren Kerrigan, Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Spohr, Glendale.

Governor Frank Lowden, of Illinois, had accepted an invitation to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Howe for the occasion, but just before the program began he notified them that his train was late and that he had given up hope of getting in time.

RECORD FOR AUTO ACCIDENTS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 19.—The death rate for this city for automobile accidents is six times greater than the average for the entire country according to figures issued by the police department. During 1920 137 people were killed by automobiles, making an average of one person to less than 5,000 population. In the entire United States, 38,000 persons were killed during the past year, which roughly computed shows one person to every 30,000.

DRAMA SECTION

GIVEN AT RESIDENCE OF

DR. AND MRS. CHASE

The drama section gave a delightful "at home" for its members and their husbands on Saturday night, January 15, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Chase, 239 North Orange street. The house was prettily decorated in poinsettias and Chinese lilies. Mrs. Chase, curator of the section, gave a talk on the hope and ambition of the section to grow and expand into community players such Hollywood, Pasadena, Monrovia, and many of neighboring cities have done, under the auspices of the Tuesday Afternoon club if the club desires to sponsor it, and when the Tuesday Afternoon club is ready to build its club house, that it may be used as a club and playhouse. Mrs. Chase said:
"Such a combination would be of great benefit, I feel, not only to the Tuesday club, but to the community at large. With this movement we could not only interest the members of the Tuesday club and their husbands, but also the young people of the city. If we could get them interested in producing plays of the right sort, it would not only be instructive, but also an outlet for their surplus energy and in this way the parents would have greater supervision and control than if they are compelled to seek their pleasures other places."

Gives Talk on Drama

Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, president of the club, gave a very interesting talk on drama, particularly the benefit and pleasure derived from the study and portrayal of characters. Mrs. Charles H. Temple, chairman of the ways and means committee, gave a very pleasing talk on the ambitions for a club house from a financial standpoint, and of the contest and then the interruption by the telephone call which informed them that the club had won second prize in this contest.

Charades on the names of modern plays were then enacted which furnished great fun and were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Some of them were "The Doll's House," "Tea for Three,"
"Bought and Paid For," "The Girl of the Golden West," "Paid in Full," "Music Master," "The Brat," "Come Out of the Kitchen," "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," and the like. Then followed a guessing contest on names of famous actors and actresses.

Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cakes were served.

Those present were Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Temple, Mrs. Mabel Ocker, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Stamps, Mr. and Mrs.

MANY SEEK NEW NAMES

CLEVELAND—It only costs $4.40 to have one's name changed in probate court procedure. And so far as known, the Cuyahoga county probate court has never refused a request.

"Why should the court object," asked E. N. Fairbanks, a deputy.
"Most persons have mighty good reasons for giving up their ancestral names."

Rasens given vary greatly. A girl by the name of Kiss asked to change to Murphy.

"It sounds so odd to have people call me Miss Kiss," she stated in her petition.

Another woman changed from Bugg to Farley and one from Snaek to Zeeder.

A large number of the petitioners say their original names are a detriment to them in business. Many desire a change because their names are hard to pronounce and spell and that there are too many similar ones in Cleveland.

Often entire families petition to have their names changed, particularly foreign speaking people who have children in school.

Married men seldom take their wives' names, according to the records.

PARIS—Stocks, shares and securities valued at two million dollars were absent mindedly left in a satchel in a railroad train by an American named Wessend of New York, who arrived in Paris. He noticed his loss only when registering in a hotel and reported it to the police.

Police Commissioner Oudaille of the St. Lazarre station returned the satchel with its contents intact to Wessend this morning. A railroad brakeman found the fortune while shunting the cars to a siding. Wess-end gave the brakeman a reward of 50,000 francs.

SEVEN-EIGHTS OF ORIGINAL POWER

IS LOST WHILE ON WAY TO WHEELS

Vitally Important to Car Owners to See That Unnecessary Losses Are Made to Cease

The average motor car owner will be startled to be informed that out of all the power that is generated by the explosion in the combustion chamber less than one-eighth is delivered in actual driving force at the rear wheels. Astonishing as it seems, this is actually true. If, then, seven-eighths of the original power is lost on the way to the driving wheels, how vitally important it is for the car owner to see that no further and unnecessary losses occur during the journey.

Taking the power generated in the combustion chamber as 100 per cent, we find that the first loss amounts to 35 per cent, which is dissipated in the cooling water. Another 35 per cent is lost through direct radiation and in the exhaust gases.

The exhaust pipe and muffler account for a further 2 per cent, and friction in the motor for nearly 6 per cent. Wind resistance uses up 7 per cent of what is left, and there is a loss through the tires of nearly 4 per cent. The transmission accounts for a further subtraction of practically 3 per cent.

Owners Need Not Worry

As long as these power losses are kept at their normal proportion there is no cause for worry, but let the car owner get careless in maintaining the vehicle and the losses immediately mount upward in geometrical ratio. Fortunately, by taking heed, it is not hard to keep the power dissipation under control, as we shall show.

The first item on our list, power lost through dissipation in the cooling water, can scarcely be controlled by the ordinary car owner. Within the past year or two engineers have taken up seriously the problem of reducing this item of waste. By means of thermostatic control it is now possible to keep the temperature of the engine at or near its point of maximum efficiency.

Heat is simply a form of power.
But unfortunately the nature of the internal combustion engine prevents more than a certain degree of temperature being utilized, because beyond that point the oil film, the protecting lubricant, would be broken down and the engine would be quickly ruined. However, by the use of thermostatic devices, designers have been able to reduce the amount of heat, which means power, wasted in the cooling water.

What he can do, however, is to see that there is no leakage from the engine. This includes gas leakage, ignition leakage, oil leakage, and the like. The gasketing of the cylinder head, if there is such, must be good all the time, and there must be no leaks at the plugs or petcocks. In gasketing the head be sure to see that the gasket itself is perfectly clean and is mounted on a clean surface.

No Nicks or Dents

There must be no nicks or dents in metal or gasket. The head must be tightened carefully to avoid springing. It is admirable to give the threads of the spark plugs, valve plugs and any other threaded device in the engine a thin coating of stove blackening, which prevents or stops leakage and also makes removal of the parts easy any future time.

It must not be forgotten that the various accessories and devices located on and driven by the engine consume power; in some cases as much as 6 per cent of the total. Add to this the inevitable friction generated by the various moving parts of the engine and we get a tidy total.

The car owner cannot cut down the consumption of power here, but he can keep it at its normal point by seeing that all these parts and accessories have a liberal quantity of lubricant of the proper grade and quality. The careful study of and attention to the directions on the lubrication chart are the safeguard here.

Great Wasters of Power

Again, carbon deposits in the combustion chamber are excessive wasters of power. A vigilant eye in the direction and removal of such deposits before they have a chance to reach serious proportions is necessary. In some cases owners who have excessive carbon trouble may well be advised to install a water feeding device on their engines after the cylinders have been thoroughly cleaned. Water injected in this way in the form of steam tends to prevent the formation of carbon deposits in a clean cylinder.

There is one kind of power waste that is not to be excused, and that is through the use of too rich a mixture. This simply means that more gasoline than is necessary is being burned up and going out of the exhaust, possibly even in the form of liquid. And what is this but the most direct and criminal sort of waste, which the owner can stop any time he desires.

In addition any liquid fuel in the combustion chamber may work down past the piston rings into the crank case, and there contaminate the oil and increase the loss further by lowering the lubricating efficiency.

The clutch wastes little power as long as it is running properly, but the minute it gets out of order and slips it fairly burns power up. Keep the clutch properly adjusted and lubricate the thrust bearing and throwout collar at stated intervals. A burned-out or dry throwout collar may cause the drag and in addition may make clutch operation and gear shifting difficult.

The transmission inevitably wastes some power through friction, but if this unit is not kept well lubricated and properly running it becomes a prodigious waste. When there is any derangement in the transmission, bearings worn, shafts out of alignment, and the like, power wastes are enormous. Trouble in the transmission should never be neglected.

Packed With Lubricant

Next in line come the universals, and these must be kept packed with the proper lubricant all the time.
The rear axle unit must be at least three times a year cleaned out with kerosene and have fresh lubricant.
When anything goes wrong with the rear axle its consumption of power is almost unbelievable. In this connection the wheel bearings must be kept in good condition; jack up the rear wheels and try them occasionally to see that they move freely.

In the tires the owner can help power losses by keeping them pumped up to pressure recommended by the maker. The wider the tire the more power it takes to carry it over the road, consequently the need for keeping the casings fully inflated.
Also this very important item of maintenance preserves the tires and cuts down the bills.

There hardly is any need to mention to the experienced motorist that brakes which are not free will drag against the drum and literally eat up gasoline. A brake drag is so easy to discover—simply jack up the wheel and spin it around, listening for a scraping noise as it spins.

STATE JANUARY 29

Invitations are being extended to residents of Glendale who came from the sunflower state to attend the annual picnic reunion to be held by the Kansas association of Long Beach on Saturday, January 29, at the pier and auditorium.

County registers will be open, making it possible, it is said, for people to find old friends and neighbors.
George W. Hamlin is president of the association. A brief program will be presented, beginning at 2 o'clock.

REPORT ON AVERAGE IS MADE

BY STATE PRINTER; FORCE

ADDED FOR LEGISLATURE

The average cost of printing a school text book in the state printing plant, according to State Printer James Cremin, is less than 25 cents.
Cremin asserts that 1,361,603 text books have been printed during the past year and that the volume of business handled by the plant during 1920 approximated $500,000.

Between 200 and 250 new employees have been added to the force of the state printing plant, State Printer Cremin announces, to care for the rush of work of the Legislature. They will be employed only temporarily.

RUBBER GROWING IN U. S.

Explorers sent out by the University of California have located within United States territory five varieties of shrubs that produce rubber of better quality than any we get from Mexico. They range from the sea level of the desert basin to an altitude of a mile and a half.

These shrubs are plentifully distributed over a belt extending from the Mexican border far into British Columbia, its eastern limit being reached in Nebraska and South Dakota. The western limit is the Coast range, along the eastern slope of which the plants run all the way from British territory into Lower California.

Over vast desert areas and "death valleys" the rubber-producing shrubs are a dominant woody type. Already plants estimated to contain 300 million pounds of finest rubber have been territorially mapped.

$100,000 POLICE RELIEF FUND

CHICAGO—A fund of $100,000 to be used in aiding the families of Chicago policemen who are killed in the performance of their duty, was turned over to the police department by a committee representing fifty business men, who contributed the money for that purpose. The fund is to be maintained for at least two years and a committee will administer it. The movement to raise the fund was started by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris when he recently took office.

The trouble with a lot of folks who bury the hatchet is that they leave the handle sticking out.

An electric hair drier and vacuum comb for cleaning the hair has been combined by a Pennsylvania inventor.

ADDITIONAL LAND AT COST

OF $141,500 OBTAINED

AT GRIFFITH SITE

Court confirmation of the offer of the city of Los Angeles to purchase 350 acres of land adjoining Griffith park, and known as the Griffith reservation, has been given. The land is a part of the estate of the late Colonel Griffith J. Griffith, donor of Griffith park to the city of Los Angeles. The purchase price is named at $141,500.

The new addition adjoins the municipal golf course on the east. The park now embraces 3,951 acres.
With the addition it will consist of 3,401 acres, or about 125 acres less than Fairmount park in Philadelphia, the largest municipal park in the world.

AND THE YANKS HAD COFFEE

COBLENZ—Sergeant Guyon of the American forces in Germany, has the distinction of having had his ration changed by direct orders from King George. When the American army polo team from Coblenz was in England recently, Guyon had charge of the ponies at Aldershot. The king visited the field and was attracted by the ponies' blankets bearing the letters "A. F. G." He approached to inspect them and addressed Guyon.
"Well, how are you getting along in England?"

The British Tommies nearby standing rigidly at attention, were petrified by Guyon's reply: "Oh, pretty well, king, but say, this tea we have for breakfast is fierce—can't you fix it up so we can have coffee?"

The king laughed and addressing one of his aides said: "See to it that these men have coffee hereafter."
And the Americans had coffee.

twelve-hour drive for members and reserves during the first four days of February.Mr. Stevenson says they will be divided into two divisions, the Or-of Majors Richardson D. White and Owen Emery, and the Blue division under Majors C. D. Lusby and David Gregg. Each of these divisions will have twenty captains, and each cap-will be mapped out for each team, and on the appointed days every one in Glendale who desires to support a modern Chamber of Commerce and the civic work it will foster, will be given the opportunity to join as a member or enroll as a reserve.Schedule Is ArrangedThe campaign director has ar-that will go thundering down the ages, called the attention of the public mind to the lamentable lack of privacy enjoyed by the goldfish.

Now comes the story from South Dakota which carries news of a still further invasion of the small degree of privacy which the goldfish enjoys.
Two South Dakota girls recently made a 573-mile trip in an Overland sedan and carried with them a bowl of goldfish. The bowl rested upon a small table-like platform, which extended over the rear seat from window to window. It was half-filled with water and the unusual trip was made to prove the contention of the Overland distributors in Sioux Falls that the triplex spring suspension of the Overland car gave it unusual riding qualities.The run of 573 miles over country roads was made in fifty-four hours running time. Not a single splash was violent enough on the entire trip to spill any water from the goldfish bowl, and, while the fishes themselves refused to be quoted, they gave every evidence of having enjoyed the journey. Forty-four towns were visited in all and the novel demonstration caused endless com-torpedo is propelled and steered from to the ground in any desired place.The torpedo has a pair of wings to sustain it in flight, and its motor may be either electric or a gasoline en-and vertical rudders. For wireless control the torpedo carries masts which support antennae, by which it is directed by radio.

INCREASING ACCOUNTS

The commercial division of the Public Service department, city of Glendale, has recently installed a billing and book-keeping machine which will entirely revolutionize its accounting system. It makes the bill, posts the account in the ledger, and makes an abstract sheet of the work at one operation.In detail it posts the present and previous readings of both water and electric meters, automatically sub-tracts the difference, thus giving the quantity used of each, extends the amount in dollars and cents of each in separate columns and shows the total of both including unpaid balances if any. It also carries the totals of each commodity separately in its registers and when a meter book is billed, the total cubic feet of water and kilowatt hours of electricity sold, with the amount of sales of each, are all shown on the abstract sheet. These abstracts are totaled at the end of each month and thereby a summary of the month's business is obtained in a very short time.Handles Cash ReceiptsAnother use of the machine is handling the cash receipts which are credited to their respective accounts daily, showing unpaid balances if any. When all the cash stubs are posted the machine shows the totals of all the accounts which received credits, the total cash posted, and total of unpaid balances. The total cash posted must agree with the cash received by the cashier thereby giving a proof that all the cash received has been credited to the various accounts.There is also an abstract made of the cash handled daily; these are totaled at the end of the month showing the entire cash receipts for the month which added to the outstanding accounts must equal the sales for the month plus the amount outstanding at the beginning of the month.As this department handles about 6,500 accounts every month this machine will greatly facilitate the work and insure absolute accuracy. Of course the success of the machine depends largely on the operator, but this feature is being ably handled by Miss Ernestine Lyon and Miss Doris Ingledue, who have become quite proficient in operating the machine considering the short practice they have had. They have put in many extra hours, both day and night, in acquiring a mastery of the many details of the machine.Open For Big MarineNEW YORK—Congress has laid down a policy broad enough for the foundation on which can be built a privately owned American merchant marine, sufficient and efficient enough to transport a major fraction of American commerce, Senator Jones of Washington, author of the merchant marine act, told the academy of political science. However, the policy is facing the opposition of alien interests, referring particularly to protests against sections of the law which sought to require the abrogation of commercial treaties with foreign countries that enforced an equal treatment by the United States in the matter of port dues, tariffs, and other charges as between goods carried in American bottoms and goods carried in foreign ships.The act, Senator Jones said, asserts it to be the policy of the United States to do whatever may be necessary to obtain a merchant marine, "and to keep this purpose and object always in view as the primary end to be attained in the disposition of our ships, in the making of rules and regulations, and in the administration of the shipping laws. This expresses the thought, desire, purpose and aim of the American people."USE ONE-THIRD WORLD'S ACRESOnly one-third of the world's potential food producing area is under cultivation, and the crops raised on that third, thanks to agricultural science, increase yearly.The United States has only some 400,000,000 of its 935,000,000 acres of arable land under cultivation, yet it raises, among other things, one-sixth of the world's corn supply. The farms of America raise less than half as much wheat to the acre as those of England, yet even with her presented standard size could raise enough corn to meet the needs of Europe on the land that is now lying unused.Russia produces only ten bushels to the acre of corn, but when science has access to her untold millions of acres, and brings their capacity up to the standard of our own farms, then she alone will be able to supply the world's cereal needs, with the exception of maize and rice.Less than a third of the world's population gets what we should call three good meals a day, yet the working capabilities of the, from our viewpoint, underfed 'continents' of Asia and Africa will compare very well with either Europe or America.
The average meat consumption of the world is thirty-nine pounds a head, yet both the Australian and the American eat nearer 180 pounds per head, and the Englishman is not far behind with about 120 pounds.It is evident, then, that we can tighten our belts a hole or two yet without running any undue risk of starvation.Using ordinary coal tar as a basis, a factory in Europe is turning out about 200 tons of artificial rubber daily.TEN-DAY

CALEDONIANSBIRTH OF ROBERT BURNS TO BE COMMEMORATED AT MEETING JANUARY 25The 162d anniversary of the birth of Scotland's favorite bard, Robert Burns, will be commemorated Tuesday night, January 25, by a concert and entertainment in Blanchard hall, 233 South Broadway, Los Angeles, given under the auspices of the Caledonian club of Los Angeles.The program will include songs selected from Burns, by Margaret Tait, Beatrice Maud McGillivray, Mrs. R.
S. Booth, John Buchanan and Robert Brown; a reading by John Brand, "The Cotter's Saturday Night"; impersonations of Sir Harry Lauder by Bob Dunlop; Highland dancing numbers will be given by Jeannie Gordon, R. L. Rowe, M. B. Ritchie, James George and D. Cooper.Bagpipe selections will be rendered by the Los Angeles Scottish pipe band. Dancing will conclude the celebration.INTO GERMAN HOMES FOR GUNSBERLIN—The time for the voluntary surrender of weapons having expired, the German disarmament commission has ordered the beginning of the military search of every house in Germany for guns. The carrying out of the order in greater Berlin was begun today in the Bavarian quarter, once a fashionable residence district and still the home of many prominent persons.Men and women leaving or entering the district, while the search was on, were asked whether they had any rifles, revolvers, machine guns or similar weapons, but otherwise traffic went on uninterruptedly.Knocking at the doors of apartments, the officer invited the occupants to turn over their guns, if they had any.WIDE WAR ON MOONSHINERSLOUISVILLE — Three hundred and seventy-five alleged moonshiners were arrested and 774 illegal stills, with 3738 gallons of liquor, were seized in the southeastern prohibition district in November, according to a report issued here by prohibition officials.The southeastern district includes the states of Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.Those arrested for alleged violation of the Volstead act paid the government $403,056 in taxes and penalties, the statement said.HONOR PIGEONS*FEATHERED FIGHTERS SECURE RECOGNITION FOR THEIR PART IN BIG WARFeathered fighters, a product of the world war, are now meeting true appreciation of their gallantry. The American carrier pigeon, his service strikes earned by "conspicuous bravery," is today virtually a member of the enlisted personnel of the United States navy.All naval aviation pigeons are being registered today on the air station muster in a manner similar to that employed in keeping the record of the personnel attached to the station. Every bird has his number.As a recent navy order requires that all seaplanes, while in flight, must carry pigeons aboard, no details are overlooked in giving the birds the attention that their position warrants. It is no easy matter, either, for a pigeon to break into the exclusive class of enlisted fighters. Not only must these air birds show a high degree of efficiency, after a period of training, but they must have attained a certain air of maturity.Wait Until Legs GrowYoung birds, for instance, are not allowed on the muster sheet until their legs have grown large enough to hold the band number of the naval air station to which they are attached.Figures compiled by the Navy Department show that during the last ten months of the war, United States naval pigeons delivered 219 messages from seaplanes forced to land at sea. These planes were without any other means of communication and credit is given the pigeons for saving both men and machines. Many instances have occurred where pigeons operating on the Atlantic seaboard have been instrumental in delivering messages requesting spare parts for disabled planes.Recently at Pensacola, Fla., thirty-two birds were used by airplanes in delivering messages. The pigeons covered 700 miles, with an average speed of 32 miles an hour.Every Persian house is constructed upon a plan of secrecy. No windows are visible from the streets, but the interior is constructed around several courts, with lovely gardens, basins, shrubbery, and even luxuriant groves of fruit and shade trees of all of which one obtains not the slightest hint from the street.OFFICIALS FIND NEW MENACEPORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 19—A sybaritic plant wanderlust from the exotic east has brought a new problem to this city. "Hashish," bedfellow of the princes of the "Arabian Nights," has taken root on the banks of the Willamette river near the wheat docks where the big ships from India dock and unload their cargoes. They have scattered the seed of the Indian hemp, popularly known as "hashish," it is declared by local botanists."Hashish jag" victims have appeared frequently of late in the local courts. Police tracing the source of supply of a Mexican woman arrested for supplying it to victims, found that she had gathered it from the banks of the Willamette; being schooled in the value of the plant which to ordinary persons appeared but a weed.Things may be said to be getting back to normal when counterfeiters again find it worth while to make dollar bills.If a man has any real use for politeness it is when he is trying to sell something.ABSENT MINDED PROFESSORBERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 19—The problem of the absent minded stage professor became a reality to 200 students of the geology class of the University of California when the final reports were filed for the semester.Professor A. C. Lawson in charge of the geology class received a call to give a series of lectures in the east, and according to university authorities was in such a hurry to make the lecture point on time, that he forgot to make out the grades of the students of his class. Students on the fringe of "flunking out," had their agony prolonged and pandemonium reigned in the dean's and president's offices for several days besieged with the hurried calls of frantic students.CONCORDIA, Kas.—B. R. Baumgardt of Buffalo, N. Y., who lectured here, announced that he was on the way on a trip around the world, which will include an attempt to visit the sacred city of Tibet. Mr.
Baumgardt will be accompanied by several natives and probably will be disguised as a country man of Lhasa.
He expects to be gone more than a year.The PULLMAN
